when members of the mob attempted to hang him.

The city was quiet this morning following the rioting, which resulted in the lynching of a negro accused of recently assaulting a white girl, the death of a white man, the injury to a negro, the partial destruction of the county courthouse, which was set on fire by members of a mob.

FEDERAL TROOPS PATROL ENTIRE CITY.

With federal troops patrolling the city, it was believed that the authorities would be able to prevent any possible fresh outbreaks of the disorders, which began yesterday afternoon when a mob set out to lynch the negro who was alleged to have assaulted the girl.

The troops were ordered to the city last night from Fort Omaha and Crook by order of Secretary of War Baker, after state authorities had appealed to him for aid when the riot situation got beyond control of local officers.

Some of the soldiers were supplied with machine guns as the men "riding in the streets of Omaha has been suppressed and the situation is in hand," said a proclamation issued early today by Lieutenant Colonel Jacob Voss, commanding officer at Fort Omaha, appealing to all citizens to surrender firearms and ammunition to the chief of police, or to the nearest military headquarters.

The proclamation declared that all law-abiding citizens, no matter of what race or color, would be given full protection to person and property. Carrying of arms, the officer declared, would be looked upon as an intention to disregard the law.

MAYOR HANGED TO TRAFFIC SIGNAL TOWER.

The attack upon Mayor Smith was made before the mob forced its way into the jail to get the negro, William Brown, who was taken from the county jail and hanged as the men who recently assaulted an Omaha girl named Agnes Lobeck.

The mayor had just left the burning courthouse building and made an appeal for law and order when members of the mob dragged the city's chief executive from a police emergency automobile.

A rope was placed about the mayor's neck and he was taken a short distance and hanged to a traffic signal tower, about a half block away. Police officers, however, succeeded in cutting him down and he was taken by automobile to a hospital.

Besides the negro, one white man, as yet unidentified, was killed. He develop today throughout the Chicago district, following the announcement that an attempt would be made to operate a number of plants which were closed by the strike.

Union leaders put out many additional pickets early in the day with instructions to endeavor to prevent the return of men to the mills. Chiefs of police and sheriffs in districts where steel mills are located ordered out reserve officers to be was shot to death. Many persons were injured, however, many of them by bullets which flew in all directions by the thousands as the men who were working in the mills were powerless to prevent it. Reports say at least 50 stores were looted by members of the mob in quest of firearms and ammunition. The police announced they had arrested a score of men in whose possession, they said, were found articles taken from stores.

DISORDER BEGINS AT 3 O'CLOCK IN AFTERNOON.

The disorders had their beginning, it is said, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon when a body of friends of the girl alleged to have been assaulted, gathered at a schoolhouse and began to march to the courthouse where Brown was held prisoner.

Police were unable to stop the march to the county building and the day wore on the crowd grew larger in size. In the crowd at the school was Millard Hoffman, companion of Miss Lobeck on the night she was attacked. Once at the county building, the mob began its efforts to "get the negro." Police were rushed to the scene but were unable to quiet the crowd. Several negro policemen were badly wounded and members of the mob gained entrance to the building, despite efforts of police and deputy sheriffs to defend the place. Hundreds of shots were exchanged between officers and members of the mob with casualties on both sides.

Some of the members of the mob who had gotten into the building set it on fire. All available firemen were called out, but they could not do their work because the mob cut lines of hose. As the fire raged members of the mob worked their way to the top floor where more than 100 prisoners, including the negro sought by the mob, were held.

CROWD KEPT AT BAY SEVERAL HOURS.

Sheriff Michael Clark and a force of deputies who were guarding the entrance to the jail were able to keep back the crowd for several hours, but as the heat from the burning structure became intense the prisoners themselves, reports say, took matters in their own hands and turned the negro over to the mob.

For several hours the lives of the prisoners had been in danger, and it was finally necessary to take them to the roof of the building. After the negro was in the hands of the mob, however, firemen were permitted to fight the blaze, which was finally extinguished, but not until the building had been gutted with a loss estimated at between $200,000 and $500,000.

During the excitement several prisoners escaped and fifteen women inmates were released so they could escape safely from the flames. Once the mob had the negro in their possession, they dragged him from the burning building and began the work of lynching him, following which the trouble seemed to subside.

MUTILATED BODY IS TURNED OVER TO MORGUE.

Brown was riddled with bullets, burned, hanged to a pole in the downtown district, and then dragged about the city's streets until his body was mutilated beyond all recognition. His body, with the head and legs burned away, was taken to the city jail this morning and turned over to a negro undertaker.

Yesterday's trouble is the result of racial feeling that has followed attacks by negroes on women. A large number of women have been attacked by negroes since last June, it is said.

GIRL SWALLOWS POISON; WILL LIVE

Nelda Vanella, age 17, living at 1541 Sixth avenue, took lysol early today and her life was saved only by speedy treatment at the Oakland emergency hospital.

Parents of the girl declared that she had taken the poison by mistake for cough medicine. When asked regarding the statement by the police, the mother replied: "I have absolutely nothing to say."

According to the police the girl told them that she was tired of living. The mother today would permit no one to see her daughter.

A desire for more freedom had made the girl unhappy, according to the story related by neighbors. A musician, with considerable talent, she is said to have been in demand among her high school friends, who enjoyed her company at evening entertainments. The police were told soon after he was confined in the "tank" and John was released. But he never told where he got "it."

John Northdurft was attempting to straighten out a crooked lamp pole on Broadway last night. Officer D. A. Farrow came along and inquired of John where he got "it."

Dutch Shipping Taken by U. S. is Returned

ROTTERDAM, Sept. 29.—All the Dutch shipping, aggregating approximately a half million tons, which was requisitioned by the United States in March, 1918, has now either been returned to the Dutch owners or is in process of return.

"It was a mistake," the mother said. "We thought we'd better send her to the emergency hospital so she would get the right sort of treatment."

City Swears by Its Pure Intent Buying Alcohol Is Costly Labor

The purchase of two gallons of alcohol, needed in the laboratories of the city chemist, may be consumed this week by the city, following nearly continuous work since September 12 in amassing affidavits, statements and certificates as to the "chemically pure" intent of the city.

The two gallons will have cost the city $125 in time put in by Secretary Ben Jones of the Public Health and Safety department, and others, in amassing the documentary evidence. More than twelve letters have passed between the department and the government over the purchase.

The alcohol supply ran out in the laboratories September 12. In preparing solutions for chemical tests, adulterated or denatured alcohol is useless. The goods are in San Francisco in a chemical wholesale house, but cannot be taken out unless the necessary documents are in the hands of Collector of Revenue Justus R. Wardell. The first set of affidavits were returned as defective.

It made directly for a cobbler shop and crashed through the front, breaking large panes of glass. Smith agreed to make good the cobbler shop's damage and was allowed to proceed home.

TWO SPEEDERS, U.C. STUDENTS, LOSE LICENSE

Instituting what he believes to be the most effective policy for discouraging motorists who imperil the lives of school children and others by speeding, Police Judge Samuel this morning took away from G. W. Spear, 2251 College avenue, and John Obarrio, 1425 Le Conte street, Berkeley, their operator's licenses.

Spear and Obarrio are students of the University of California. They were arrested at Forty-second and Broadway Saturday on a charge of speeding past Oakland Technical high school. Spear was driving 34 miles an hour and Obarrio at 33 miles, according to the complaints.

Judge Samuel stated to the youths he was making an example of them as warning to other speeding motorists.

"You are charged with endangering the lives of innocent children by breaking the speed laws," said Judge Samuel. "This court is determined to adopt a vigorous procedure in all speeding cases and yours is particularly serious."

After these remarks Judge Samuel ordered the youths to leave the court clerk their operator's licenses.

Spear will be sentenced October 28 and Obarrio will be sentenced September 30.

Re-Direct Quiz of Looz Started Petersen Is 'Target' in Graft Trial

Charges that the cross-examination of Hermann Looz, star witness for the state in the second bribery trial of John H. Nedderman, former police chief, was not being properly conducted by Peter J. Crosby, counsel for defense, were offered to Judge Lin Church this morning by Deputy District Attorney Theodore P. Wittschen. Wittschen claimed that only fragments of Looz's testimony before the grand jury and in former trials were submitted to him by Crosby in the latter's efforts to impeach his testimony.

The cross-examination of Looz was completed by Crosby at noon, the witness having been on the stand for three days and a half. At the afternoon session Deputy District Attorney Wittschen began his re-direct examination.

COURT MAKES RULING.

Wittschen's criticism drew an assignment of misconduct on his part from the defense counsel. The criticism arose when Crosby sought to show that Looz's testimony, with regard to mention of former Commissioner P. F. Jackson, Looz and Nedderman, differed from trial to trial. Wittschen claimed that a wrong impression was given the jury because only a portion of the former testimony of Looz in this regard was read. The court ruled that Wittschen could offer the deleted portion in re-direct examination.

Crosby sought to indicate one inconsistency in Looz's statements with regard to complaints Looz says he made to Nedderman against interference by police officers with the business of the Bartenders' Club. He secured an admission from Looz that the latter was paying $40 every month or so to Corporal Thomas O'Neill at the time that he was complaining to Nedderman about O'Neill's "hounding" the club.

Looz's arrest in December, 1917, on a charge of selling liquor without a license at the time of the club's being raided by Captain Thorvald Brown, was also the subject of questioning, during which Crosby delivered one blow at Captain of Detectives Walter J. Petersen.

"How long," he demanded of

FORTY HURT, TWO KILLED IN WRECK

morning will proceed as far as San Jose, where a detour will be made to Niles, so that the coaches can be sent over the valley route.

A passenger named Tattenhan said he could see the mile posts directly in front of him. He discovered that the train had made a mile in 64 seconds than the crash came. Another passenger, he said, had caught the time at 63 seconds. Tattenhan said he and other passengers, after the wreck, discussed it with the brakeman. The brakeman, he said, showed him an order with instructions to draw into Salinas ten minutes late.

"This would mean making up 40 minutes between San Luis Obispo and Salinas," said Tattenhan. He added that the brakeman denied they were leaving San Luis Obispo late. He said the brakeman, conductor and engineer had received orders similar to the one he showed. The fact that it was an all-steel train may have saved many lives, Tattenhan believes.

Tattenhan said most of the injured were in the diner. The wreck occurred at 7:20 and the diner was full. The fireman's body lay almost clear of the engine, indicating he had jumped. The engineer's hand was on the air valve, and trainmen said they believed he had shut off the air at his last act.

Tattenhan said there were 13 stretcher cases, of which four or five were women. He said the impression of the passengers was that several of the injured would die.

That several of the injured were not included in the Southern Pacific wreck list was the belief. The list may run as high as 50.

Major Deegan Wins Only $300 Damages

Judge Joseph S. Koford today decided the suit of Major W. F. Deegan of New York against Albert W. Crouch for $25,000 damages for alleged "verbal conversation" with Mrs. Deegan, with whom he is said to have eloped from New York to Oakland, awarding Deegan $300. The court held that the damage claim was excessive in view of the fact that Deegan and his wife, according to the testimony, were separated prior to her departure to California.

Mrs. Deegan testified in the trial that she and Crouch lived together in a Fruitvale bungalow in a platonic relationship. Suits are pending in New York and Oakland involving divorce in which all the parties to the tangle are involved.

SUGAR SUPPLY SHORT; MANY ARE SOLD OUT

Many Oakland grocers today announced that they have sold the last pound of sugar in stock and do not know when more will be obtainable. There is practically no sugar for sale on San Francisco Bay, said E. S. Hogan, secretary and manager of a combination of forty-five grocers of Alameda county.

"Under government restrictions the dealers cannot charge more than 15 cents a pound for what stock they have on hand," he said. "Those who have a few pounds left are limiting sales to two pounds for each customer."

Hogan said that the Western refinery had given assurance that it would renew refining some time this week, probably by Wednesday. This company stopped making sugar because of the stevedores' strike, which prevented unloading of raw sugar destined for the firm, said Hogan. The C. & N. P. refinery, he said, will be closed until about the first of the year.

"The western refineries oversold to eastern customers, getting more money than they could in the west, so the dealers here are out of luck," Hogan declared. "We were told that beet sugar would be ready by September 15, but now they are saying October 1. The shortage is certainly serious right now."

That the sugar shortage is more than a local condition is indicated in dispatches from Chicago. These declare that sugar will go to 15 cents soon, and will reach 25 cents by spring unless President Wilson authorizes the United States Sugar Equalization board to take over the entire Cuban sugar crop.

"There is a world shortage of sugar," Henry H. Rolapp, president of the Beet Sugar Manufacturers' association, is quoted as saying. "The Cuban people have forced their government to adopt a restrictive policy and are holding their product for the highest price they can get."

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Scoring senators who oppose the League of Nations as "provincial, petty Americans," Professor Charles Mills Gayley, dean of the faculties at the University of California, declares that the progress of the American nation is being retarded by the prolonged fight against the covenant.

Lecturing to classes at the university on some points, he has a right to his opinion and is evidently sincere in some of the things he says," declared the university savant. "I have no respect for a few of our senators who want no league at all. I have no shred of respect for Borah and Reed, who criticize to destroy. They are petty, provincial Americans."

"Shanting is one of the errors of the league," But the only way to settle it is to go into the league with China and Japan and bring up our objections at the first sitting of the conference of the league nations," Without America there can be no league—there can be no peace. Without America in a league the world will go on wallowing in wars. Without American confidence between nations will disappear, commerce will languish, trade will suffer, secret alliances will sow the seeds of future war. Then we might as well not have sacrificed the thousands who died and the millions who have been hopelessly maimed."

Twelve Teachers Are Retired With Pensions
Elizabeth Crowley and Marg A. Houston, San Francisco school teachers, who have been in continuous service since 1877, have been placed on the retirement schedule and will receive pensions of $500 a year from the state.

Twelve applications for retirement were passed on Saturday by the State Board of Education, and twelve were granted. This is said to be the smallest quarterly pension list in many years, due to the shortage of teachers, which is calling many veterans into the service. The quarterly payroll is now a little more than $75,000.

A committee consisting of Will C. Wood and Stanley E. Wilson was authorized to invest $75,000 of the board's surplus funds.

Famous Dahlias to Be Seen in Films
The garden of Dr. L. Michael of San Leandro, which furnished the gorgeous daisies that were used to decorate the suite occupied by President Wilson at the Hotel Oakland during his stay in Oakland, is a feature of the TRIBUNE-Kinema Weekly at the Kinema today. The flowers from Dr. Michael's private garden were used exclusively for the president, who sent a note to the doctor in appreciation of them. Dr. Michael raises the flowers as a hobby and will exhibit some of his choicest blossoms at the coming flower show.

WILLIAM FARNUM FIGHTS HIS GREATEST BATTLE

WILLIAM FARNUM, who participates in the greatest fight ever screened in "The Spoilers" at the Franklin Theater today.

Rev. Beach's greatest story, "The Spoilers," the tale of strong men and strong passions is playing at the Franklin Theater today.

The story vividly pictures the days of the gold rush to Alaska, when every man was a law unto himself and the weakest had little chance in the race for riches. William Farnum has the leading role and Kathleen Williams plays opposite him. The great fight between William Farnum and Tom Sanchez at the climax of the picture has become a classic in motion picture and is considered the best fight ever screened.

George Loane Tucker's great production, "The Miracle Man," is playing today at the Kinema, with Thomas Melham in the leading role, and Kathleen Williams

WEDDING PARTY 'TAGS' COPS' CAR; ALMOST PINCHED

Because a merry party of wedding guests "tagged" the automobile of Police Sergeant J. Herbert Thornbury, under the impression that it was the machine destined to bear the bride and bridegroom away, half the Temescal district came near to being "pinched" by the irate autocrat of the Northern station yesterday, and only late today was his mighty wrath reduced to the mere simmering-point.

It happened thusly: H. W. Melvin and Miss Ethel Pelgron were wedded just across the street from the Northern station. They planned a quiet getaway, and had a "Henry Flivver" planted for the escape in front of the station. But their wedding friends were "wise," and removed the car. Then Thornbury left the police "diver" in its place.

Great was his wrath when he saw it a few minutes later, tagged with old shoes, cans, etc., by others of the wedding party. Then when the bride and bridegroom tried to escape in the machine he rushed forth and proceeded to put all in sight under arrest. Captain William F. Woods came in just in time to hear explanations, smooth down the angry sergeant, and all was well.

LEAGUE FOES ARE DECLARED PETTY

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Scoring senators who oppose the League of Nations as "provincial, petty Americans," Professor Charles Mills Gayley, dean of the faculties at the University of California, declares that the progress of the American nation is being retarded by the prolonged fight against the covenant.

Lecturing to classes at the university on some points, he has a right to his opinion and is evidently sincere in some of the things he says," declared the university savant. Nathan Crocker, 72, Drops Dead on Street
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Nathan Crocker, prominent wholesale grocer, dropped dead this morning at Clay and Larkin streets while walking with his wife. He was rushed to the Emergency hospital, but was pronounced dead upon arrival. He was 72 years old and is survived by a widow and two children, who reside at the family residence at 1644 Clay street.

EX-POLICEMEN NOW TEACHERS

Policemen teachers:
A shining star has taken the place of the time-honored rod that didn't hurt the child, but has now vanished, together with the "three Rs," in the multiplicity of modern Futurist educational methods! Just as the switch the village master in his little school inspired terror and beat in education, so now the face of a copper's star is to do it in the future, and then, of course, the policeman always has a "billy" or "persuader" along in case some juvenile skull absorbs better when knowledge is beaten into it—as sugar is beaten into a whipped egg.

Policemen A. M. Burns and Patrolman E. C. Randall are Oakland's first "pedagogic cops." They have been detailed by Chief of Police J. F. Lynch as teachers at the Elmhurst schools, the officers alternating in teaching classes in police duty and civil government. The class will be a part of the regular school curriculum, and, if successful, will be extended to other schools. In the meantime other police officers are preparing to bid for teaching jobs. Inspector Rodie A. Wallman, a late graduate of the University of California, wants to teach chemistry, and Louis F. Agnew says he is an expert in geography.

Con Keefe opines that he will be, when he gets back from Reno. Burns is getting their lectures ready for their new roles as "professors."

COBURN MURDER FACTIONS BATTLE

PESCADERO, Sept. 29.—A pitched battle, growing out of the feud between rival factions of witnesses in the Coburn murder case, is being investigated today by the San Mateo county authorities, and arrests are expected. Frank Goulart, son of a local blacksmith, is under the care of a physician, and accuses Andrew Goulart and Frank Zieg of an attack on him at San Geronimo, near here. Goulart is one of the witnesses in the investigation of the death of Mrs. Satira Coburn, and the two who attacked him are interested, it is said, in the affairs of the opposing faction.

Goulart, the first of the witnesses examined last week in the probe under way by District Attorney Franklin Swart, and his father, are said to have important facts relating to the mysterious case growing out of the death of Mrs. Coburn, widow of Loren Coburn, eccentric millionaire, and who was clubbed to her home last June. The two men accused of the attack on Goulart are said to belong to the Wiemann faction, headed by C. H. Wiemann, chief beneficiary under Mrs. Coburn's will, over which a contest is threatened. Some time ago Zug charged that Goulart has tried to bribe him to give certain evidence in connection with the case that might tend to aid him in a will contest. The men who attacked him told him that they would "get" his father and Jack

U. C. FOOTBALL ROOTERS "POOR SPORTS" CHARGE

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—University of California rooters at football games are "poor sports," Cal State students charge in the Daily Californian, the student paper on the campus, is responsible for the accusation.

In an editorial this morning the paper scores the men in the California bleachers at a football game held on Saturday with "poor" sportsmanship, because they hissed the referee and called him names.

Why does a referee answer back the accused students if he cannot be abused?

SCHOOL FOR AUTOISTS
Piedmont autoists are to have an auto law school, according to plans of Chief of Police E. F. Becker of the "millionaire city." Becker has arranged a testing station at Vista and Highland avenues, where auto lights are to be examined and adjustments made, and where motorists are to be given instructions.

PARSONS, NATIONAL FILM HEAD, DIES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—William Parsons, motion picture producer and actor, president of the National Film corporation, is dead at his home here today, after an illness lasting only a few days. Parsons, known to stage folk as "Smile Alig Bill," was the husband of Bill Rhodes and one of the most prominent figures in motion picture work in Los Angeles.

Trusty Ships Squares Act With Big Cake

Captain Thorvald Brown, at the Eastern police station, today has a five chocolate cake, which is rapidly disappearing by installments; but hereafter he'll keep an eye on Frank Alvarez, trusty. Alvarez disappeared from the station yesterday; an alarm was sent out. But at 9 o'clock last night he returned with a big cake for the captain. He said that he'd to his home, a few blocks away for a home-cooked meal and the "mamma sent the cake to the captain for treating him so nicely."

Brown asserts that Mrs. Alvarez produces fine cake, even while he can't so highly compliment her son, in jail on a vagrancy charge.

GIRL REFUSES TO RETURN HOME

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Despite an appeal voiced in the personal columns of Bay city papers that she return home to her parents, 16-year-old Virginia Johnson refuses to go to her Berkeley home, and is determined to lead her own life away from compulsory school books and other prosaic things of life to which she objects.

Anxious and worn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, 1541 Josephine street, waited until almost midnight yesterday at the former office in the Kohl building, San Francisco, which they had named as a trysting place with their runaway daughter. The girl neither appeared or sent a message.

Neither did she live up to her promise to "write often" to her anxious parents, no letter coming this morning.

That Virginia is working in San Francisco and is following out her own independent ideals of life is the belief of her parents. She is declared a capable housekeeper and the parents feel that she may be filling a position in some home, where her identity is not likely to become known.

Trolley Airplane Newest Invention; Is For Beginners

LOS GATOS, Sept. 29.—An airplane which flies on a number of trolleys anchored loosely to the ground and providing for automatic flights was viewed here by Earl P. Cooper and will possibly be adopted for beginners at aviation schools, he said. The device, known as the paraplane, is the invention of J. D. Mouser of this city. Cooper and two companions flew here in a brilliantly colored airplane to look over the paraplane.

CRUELTY CHARGED IN DIVORCE SUITS

FAIRFIELD, Sept. 29.—Myrtle V. Campbell has instituted suit for divorce against her husband, John L. Campbell, alleging that he has been cruel to her. They were married March 6, 1912. The defendant has been restrained from disposing of any of the property. The plaintiff asks for $50 a month for support pending settlement of the suit.

The divorce case of Ezra Truel against his wife, Fannie May Truel, has been dismissed. The couple have kissed and made up and will try to live together again.

Fred Johnson has filed a suit for divorce against his wife, Rebecca Johnson, whom he charges with extreme cruelty. They were married February 17, 1912.

Charles Roeder has instituted divorce proceedings against his wife, Susan Roeder, charging her with desertion. The couple were married in Los Angeles March 19, 1911.

Gertrude C. Grennan of Vallejo has been granted a final decree in divorce against her husband, Charles F. Grennan, on a complaint charging desertion and willful neglect. The husband is instructed to pay $25 a month for support of the two minor children, who are in the custody of the mother.

Dorothy L. Young of Vallejo has filed a divorce suit against her husband, Albert R. Young. She says he was cruel to her and she suffered both bodily and mentally from his treatment of her.

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Arrangements have been made by the California Building Trades Materials Company of Niles to have its entire working force enter the several unions to which their workmen properly belong, according to E. H. Pratt of the Building Trades Council. Pratt also says that other quarries around Niles are being unionized through efforts of the council.

Churches Honor Bishop Coadjutor

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—As a tribute to Dr. Edward Lamp Parsons, rector of St. Mark's parish, who will be elevated shortly to the position of bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal church, the First Congregational church was crowded last evening at a union meeting arranged by the churches of the central section of the city.

Dr. Raymond C. Brooks, pastor of the church, presided at the meeting, which Dr. Lausley A. McAfee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, paid a tribute to Dr. Parsons in behalf of the ministers of the city.

Miss Winnifred Banks, representing the collegiate alumnae, spoke briefly at the meeting in behalf of a petition of protest to be sent to Senator Hiram Johnson as a result of his League of Nations fight. Dr. Parsons leaves this week for the East to attend a conference of Episcopal churches and will return the latter part of next month in time to preach a farewell service at St. Mark's church before his consecration as bishop.

League of Nations' Points to Be Argued

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Both sides of the League of Nations controversy will be presented tonight at a meeting of the Berkeley Defense Corps to be held at the "dugout" on Allston way.

Professor Thomas H. Reed of the political science department at the University of California, will uphold the league covenant, while Professor Charles E. Martin of the department of jurisprudence at the university, will point out legal defects in the document.

Although personally in favor of the league with reservations, Professor Martin has made a study of the document from a legal standpoint and will speak from the standpoint of a lawyer. Questions will be answered by the speakers after the debate. Tonight's meeting will be open to the public, both men and women being invited. Victor Robertson, president of the corps, will preside.

Co-eds Frightened by Chimney Fire

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Clothes were thrown from windows and frightened co-eds scrambled to safety as a result of a blaze yesterday afternoon at the Pi Beta Phi sorority house, 2709 Channing way. The safety first precaution of the college girls were for naught, however, for the blaze proved to be merely a chimney fire, which was quickly extinguished by the fire department with a nominal loss.

COUNCIL REFUSES TO HEAR MAYOR

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Despite the fact that Mayor Louis Bartlett held in his hand a copy of a recommendation from City Attorney Frank V. Cornish, members of the city council refused to allow that executive to read it at an adjourned meeting held this morning.

Cornish's report recommended that a check of deposit for $2000 put up by Rufus Jennings, Oakland capitalist, at the time he was awarded a lease on the city's waterfront be returned to him minus a sum of approximately $400 covering the costs of printing and advertising the lease. According to the terms of the lease, the "successful bidder" must defray this expense.

Members of the council opposed to the mayor have declared that Jennings was not the successful bidder in that the lease granted him was subsequently rescinded following the filing of referendum petitions.

The question of an increase of pay for Berkeley policemen opened this morning's meeting, which was an adjourned session from last Friday.

There is no doubt that the council is in favor of more money for policemen, but they will have to show us where to get the funds," declared Councilman Charles D. Heywood.

"Move we adjourn," came from Councilman E. T. Harms.

The meeting adjourned with Cornish's report unread in the mayor's pocket.

Bids for a new lease of the Berkeley waterfront will be received at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow.

If you saw it in THE TRIBUNE, tell them so. Thank You

Auto Thief "Trust" Betrayed by Woman

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—Revenge by a woman scorned, led to the arrest here today of Charles Moon and George Mathers, alleged members of an automobile thief "trust," said to have stolen forty-nine machines valued at $70,000 in various parts of California.

The woman, whose name authorities withheld, alleged that she was one of eight women members of the gang and with the men they maintained a cache at Tipperary camp, near the Yosemite Valley.

Labor to Lose Steel Strike, Says Redfield

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Labor will lose the big steel strike, in the opinion of Secretary of Commerce Redfield, because the strike has not the support of public opinion.

"The American public regards the steel strike as a movement by organized labor to grasp power, and for that reason did not support it," the secretary said this afternoon. "Organized labor has lost in the last two months support of the public that it will take a number of years for it to regain," he continued, citing the Boston police strike as one of the principal reasons for this "loss of public support."

Chicago Man Shoots Girl; Ends Own Life

PARIS, Sept. 29.—Ernest C. Ladd, who is said to have been a Chicago broker, shot a young woman named Adrienne Policioni, with whom he was having dinner, and then cut his throat, dying shortly afterward. Although wounded several times, the condition of Miss Policioni was not considered serious.

Ladd, who was about 40 years old, has been living at the Hotel Continental for six months. The police assert that the shooting of the woman was due to jealousy on the part of Ladd.

MACHINIST BAND TO GIVE CONCERT

The TRIBUNE maintains an office in Vallejo at 340 Georgia street, telephone Vallejo 402-3. Letter for the editorial or business departments may be left there.

VALLEJO, Sept. 29.—Through the efforts of Foreman G. L. Dennett and Leader Frank H. Brown the Mare Island Machinists' band will give an open air concert here before the fall is over. The Machinists made a great hit early this month in the concert given in front of San Pablo hall before their dance.

Vallejo Council No. 874, Knights of Columbus, will hold a banquet and entertainment Sunday, October 12, Columbus day, in honor of the members who served during the World War. The plans are now being arranged by a capable committee and further details will be made public in a few days.

The contractors have started concrete work at the site of the new Virginia street theater. The foundation of the handsome show shop is to be completed early in October.

Authority has been received at Mare Island to increase the power plant equipment of the Hull and Machinery division. The plant has been working to its full capacity for several months past. The announcement is that close to $50,000 is to be spent.

Orders were issued at the navy yard Saturday to unlock the Mare Island built destroyer Kennison, Monday. Before leaving cradle No. 2 the craft will have her inclining test, and the weights will be installed by means of the floating crane.

Two Heavy Storms Are Due in October, Says Professor Porta

First and Third Weeks of the Month to See Rain on Coast.

By PROF. ALBERT F. PORTA
Note.—All the following storms will be formed in the North Pacific ocean, west of British Columbia. The planetary conditions which will occur in October will be as follows:

October 2.—Opposition of Venus with Mercury.
October 8.—Conjunction of Mars with Jupiter.
October 22.—Conjunction of Mars with Neptune.

The fact that only three planetary phenomena will occur during this month does not mean at all that the terrestrial disturbances in October should be few and mild, inasmuch as the three oppositions and the five conjunctions that occurred in September will powerfully concur to the production of some severe storms, earthquakes and volcanic eruptions during this month. Chiefly allude to the peculiar opposition of Venus with Saturn September 2 and the very powerful conjunctions of Venus with the Earth, Mercury with Jupiter and Saturn, respectively, September 12, 14 and 20.

TWO STORMS DUE
The solar disturbances generated by these four planetary events will produce, along our Pacific Coast, four partial atmospheric depressions, which probably will integrate themselves into two very severe storms during the first and third week of this month.

Their main bulks, after having entered and struck Washington and Oregon, turning about the north magnetic pole of the earth, will cross the American continent from west to east, bringing the first big rainfall of the season to the north and the Rocky mountains.

Afterwards, increased in intensity, they will cross the Central states and the Eastern sections, leaving everywhere some sad records of their transit.

HURRICANES ON LAKES
Dangerous hurricanes and heavy rainfall will specially occur on the Great Lakes, and destructive tropical storms will happen around Cuba, or Florida, and again in states of the Mexican Gulf northward, on or about October 3 to 5 and 19 and 20.

But some portions of these storms, detached from the main bulk, will graze our coast and give scattered rain and partial gales in California and heavy sea all along the Pacific coast on or about October 4 to 6 and 17 to 22.

The list of all the storms which will occur in October are tabulated below.

I desire to call the attention to the exactness with which not only the storms and earthquakes all over the world are occurring in accordance with my forecasts, but also the volcanic eruptions and the warm waves.

HEAT CAUSES TRAGEDY
And because very intense warm waves have just invaded the United States from west to east in this month, especially during the period of September 17 to 23, thus entirely covering my prognostications, I will add that they were due to the centrality of the sunspots of Venus which were generated by the conjunction of Venus with Uranus September 1, by the opposition of Venus with Saturn September 2 and by the conjunction of Venus with the Earth September 12.

Similarly when the vernal sunspots and faculae, which will be generated by the opposition of Venus with Mercury October 2 turning about the solar axis, are central, another warm wave will be born and propagated along our Pacific Coast on October 12 to 16 and October 26 to 28.

Similarly when the above described vernal sunspots and faculae which were generated by the conjunction of Venus with the Earth September 12, the opposition of Venus with Saturn September 2 and the conjunction of Venus with Uranus September 1, again cross the central solar regions they will again produce some mild warm spells along our coast on or about September 9 to 15 and October 22 to 25.

HUGE SUNSPOTS DUE
A thing which would interest the possessor of a non-inverting telescope is that, according to my calculations, from October 20 to 25 many solar disturbances, either in the shape of huge sunspots or groups of sunspots or spotted faculae fields will appear on the eastern limb of the visible solar disk.

The most conspicuous among them will be:
That of Venus, October 21, produced by the opposition of Venus with Mercury on October 2. It will appear very near to the solar equator.

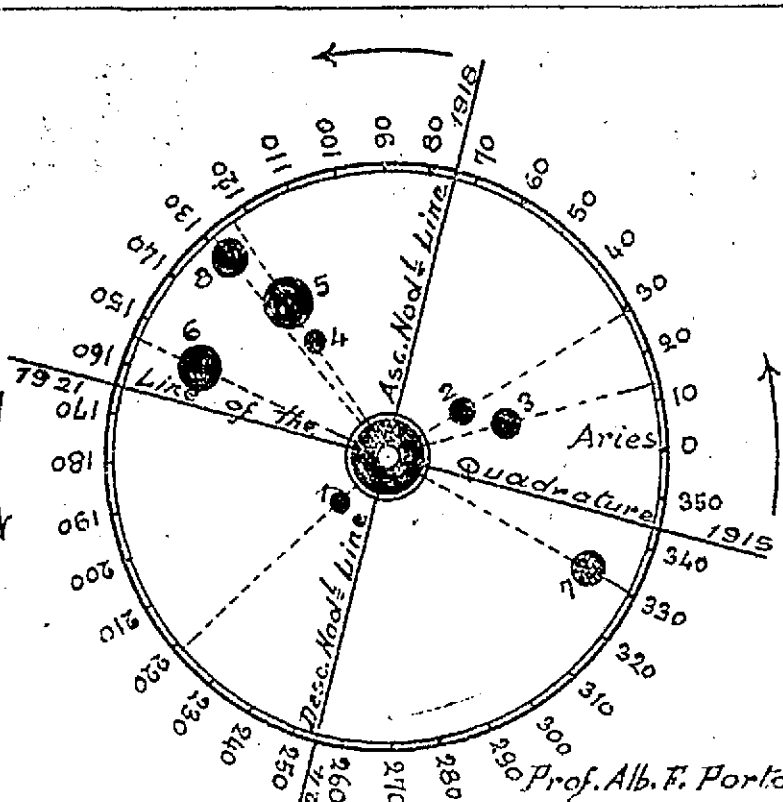

That of Jupiter, October 20, produced by the conjunction of Jupiter with Mars on October 8. It will be at about four degrees north of the solar equator.

Finally integrating all the partial electro-magnetic energies affecting this month by grouping the dates in which the sunspots and faculae produced by the foregoing planetary phenomena, will occur, the states of Venus with the Earth (Sept. 12) and of Mercury with Saturn (Sept. 13) and of Mercury with Jupiter (Sept. 14) and of the conjunctions of Jupiter with Mars (Oct. 8) Jupiter with Mercury (Sept. 14) and Mercury with Saturn (Sept. 20).

Forecast for October
Period 1 (Oct. 1 to 16) specially produced by the opposition of Mercury with the Earth and Venus, respectively, which occurred September 27 and October 2; the conjunction of Mercury with Saturn, Neptune and Saturn, respectively, which occurred September 13, 16 and 20, and the conjunction of Venus with the Earth and Jupiter, respectively, which occurred September 12 and 14. This will be a severe storm, bringing rain, gales and heavy seas along our Pacific Coast, especially on October 4 to 6.

Period 2 (Oct. 17 to 22), especially due to the conjunction of Mercury with Saturn (Sept. 20); the opposition of Mercury with the Earth (Sept. 27); the conjunctions of Mars with Mercury and Jupiter, respectively, which occurred September 13, 16 and 20, and the conjunction of Venus with the Earth and Jupiter, respectively, which occurred September 12 and 14. This stormy period, formed at the North Pacific, severely will interfere with California, but rather will give a warm wave October 9 to 14 and fogs after sunset along our coast.

Prof. Porta's planetary configuration for October 8, 1919. Name of planets: 0—Sun, 2—Venus, 3—Earth, 4—Mars, 5—Jupiter, 6—Saturn, 7—Uranus, 8—Neptune.

The volcanic eruptions of the Vesuvius and Aetna, respectively, occurred on August 23 and 31; the severe earthquake of Central Italy on September 13; the heavy shocks in Eureka on September 13, 14 and 15; the big earthquake in the harbor of Alicante (Spain) on September 15; the terrific storm, hurricanes and tidal waves occurred in Florida and Texas (Corpus Christi) on September 10, 13 and 15.

Also the intense warm wave which, from September 17 to the present, covered all the United States from west to east and have occurred exactly in accordance with Prof. Porta's prognostications.

And all these terrestrial disturbances are to be considered as the preliminary precursors of the Planetary Conclave (the league of the planets), which, according to my calculations, will occur next December.

scattered rain, strong winds, heavy seas and foggy along the Pacific Coast, including California, specially on October 17 to 20.

Period 4 (Oct. 24 to 31), especially due to the conjunctions of Mars with Jupiter and Saturn (Oct. 3 and 22) and the opposition of Mercury with Saturn (Sept. 20). Accompanied with a slight warm wave this period will be windy and foggy, with a shortage of rainfall in California. Heavy seas.

FOR CENTRAL STATES
Period 1 (Oct. 4 to 9)—Sudden fall in temperature from October 2 and frosts in Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Arkansas from October 7 to 8. Dangerous rains over the Great Lakes.

Period 2 (Oct. 11 to 17)—Mild temperature and partial rains from 10 to 15, and threatening weather in the southern sections from 15 to 17.

Period 3 (Oct. 18 to 20)—Storm wave coming from west. Strong gales over the Great Lakes regions and rain.

Period 4 (Oct. 20 to 25)—The warm wave coming over will be followed by a misty weather and scattered rain.

Period 5 (Oct. 26 to 31)—Cloudy and unsettled weather. Foggy conditions over Gulf states and the Great Lakes basin, followed by strong and cold winds. Shortage of rain.

FOR ATLANTIC COAST
Period 1 (Oct. 1 to 5)—Dangerous tropical storms around Florida and in the states of Mexican gulf.

Period 2 (Oct. 6 to 9)—Cold wave over the eastern sections of Texas, Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia.

SAILOR LOSES FOOT AND COIN—MYSTERY SEEN

RICHMOND, Sept. 29.—Chief of Police W. H. Wood has ordered an immediate investigation of the accident last night which cost Charles J. Jones, a sailor stationed at the island, his left foot. Whether Jones acted the part of the good samaritan or whether he was working his way to the island is the mystery confronting the police.

Jones was picked up from the Southern Pacific railway track just above Richmond Junction last night by H. McKenney, 249 Eighteenth street. His left leg was badly mutilated and his screams attracted so much attention that several other local citizens soon arrived at the scene. B. Veint of 415 Fourteenth street rushed Jones to the emergency hospital in his machine and later took him to Cottage hospital, where he is resting easily this morning. The leg was amputated at a late hour last night after efforts to save it were made.

ACCOSTED BY STRANGER. Jones told the police that he had just come from San Francisco and had alighted from the train when a stranger approached him and following a few moments' conversation gave him a cigarette. Three puffs on it and he became unconscious, according to the police report. He was unable to tell what happened from that moment until he woke up in McKenney's arms lying on the railroad track. This morning the said that he was robbed of $150.

That the sailor was drugged by the cigarette is one theory. Another is that he was riding the tops of the train and fell from the car. Communications with railroad officials here were started this morning by Chief Wood, who is making a personal investigation of the case.

MYSTERY IN STOP. The chief said that the train stopped above the junction for a few minutes, which is not on the schedule. On being questioned concerning this stop the engineer and brakemen all denied having applied the air brake. They believe that some outsider stopped the train. A close inspection to see that there was nothing wrong with the cars was made and the engine started. Shortly after its departure the injured man was found on the track.

Jones, who is from Kansas City, Mo., and has been stationed at the island for the past three months, according to the police. Further investigation is expected to be made by the officials as well as by the local police.

DENY RETRIAL OF SCHULTZ TAX CASE

Judge A. F. St. Sure today denied the motion of the heirs of the late Oakland millionaire, Frederick W. Schultz, for a new trial of the case in which they seek to avoid payment of $2,600 inheritance tax.

Judge St. Sure recently decided the case in which the state sued for the inheritance tax money. Prior to his death Schultz organized the Frederick W. Schultz Estate company, assigning to it all of his property and dividing the capital stock of the company among his heirs at law.

The heirs claimed valuable consideration for the assignment and contended that so far as the principal portion of the estate is concerned they were not, in fact, heirs.

The court held that the property was assigned by the decedent in contemplation of his death and refused the heirs a retrial of the case. The property is valued at $980,000.

Accuses 'Friend' of Robbery; Then Relents

Domingo Rogers, an ex-soldier, felt compassion for his erstwhile companion, Drew McBride, whom he had charged with stealing $53 when McBride appeared for examination this morning in Police Judge Mortimer Smith's court.

Though he was bitter against McBride for taking advantage of his friendship, Rogers refused to testify against McBride. According to Judge Smith held McBride to answer in superior court. He fixed the bail at $200.

According to the complaint both men went to the room of Drew at Twelfth and Franklin. McBride had gone when Rogers arose and $53 of Rogers' money went with him.

McBride, according to the police, was at liberty on probation after being convicted of grand larceny in Santa Cruz.

Richmond Park Offer Up Tonight Council Also to Discuss Memorial

RICHMOND, Sept. 29.—The meeting of the city council this evening promises to draw as large a crowd as that which attended the meeting last week. With two important matters to be discussed, the council is expected to be one of the most interesting of the season.

The first item on the agenda is the offer of the city for $150,000. An inspection of the park was made by six members of the council Saturday afternoon and their opinions concerning the place will be submitted tonight. A visit to the two playgrounds in need of improvements was also made, and Mayor Long is anxious that these sites be reconstructed immediately.

The matter of obtaining better parks and playground has become an important subject, and the council is expected to take action on this matter.

Several plans for raising money are now being considered and it is expected that a definite program will be decided upon following the opinion of the councilmen this evening.

The efforts of Williams to have such a building for Richmond are being met with success and the idea which was scarcely thought of two weeks ago is now proving of interest to all local residents. With over three thousand discharged servicemen in this city the plan is expected to be a success.

Mayor and Edwards in Word Duel Quay Lease Delays Council Work

While Commissioner W. J. Baccus called vainly for the city council to "get down to business" Mayor John L. Davis and the majority faction in the city council engaged in a wordy battle today that resulted in the much-argued Quay wall frontage lease being "referred to the Mayor for a report." Davis says he will let it lie in his office "until the end of time," unless the council takes it back again.

The argument started with the appearance of the ordinance granting the lease for final passage. Mayor Davis, whose criticism of the lease and threats to referendum it had aroused the ire of the majority in the council and which caused the recent revocation of his vacation leave, sat stonily aloof.

Commissioner W. H. Edwards began the attack.

"If there are any objections," he said, "we ought to hear them now. I understand that the Mayor has some objections. I would like to hear from him."

"Nothing doing. Call the roll," retorted the Mayor.

"Ah, but the Mayor has had objections said Soderberg. Now the Mayor has a chance to tell us what they are."

"You've got three votes; go ahead," said the Mayor.

Edwards again resumed the attack, stating that the Mayor ought to tell the council what his objections were.

"You know I've objected from the start," said the Mayor. "It's been thrashed out a dozen times. Go ahead and pass it."

Soderberg said he thought it ought to be submitted to the Mayor for a report before passage. Still the Mayor refused to "rise."

"Evidently the Mayor does not think that his opinion is worth anything," said Edwards.

"No, not to you," retorted the Mayor.

"Well, the Mayor's opinions are usually nothing but grandstand playing by reason of the fact that they weren't grand stand plays when I was taking you around to the shipyards to get you elected," retorted the Mayor, "when you

School Merger Meets Opposition

Strenuous opposition to the proposed consolidation of the Sheridan, Vallejo and Sunol Glenn school districts into one school district, to be known as Sunol Glenn, developed in the board of supervisors today. Prosecuting Attorney Fred Donahue appeared before the board on behalf of objectors from the Sheridan district, protesting bitterly against the proposed consolidation on the ground that because of the poor road conditions the children of the Sheridan district would be unable to get to the school.

The whole controversy hinged on the question of the improvement of a stretch of road a distance of one and eight-tenths miles, beginning at the Sheridan school. Donahue said that the road would be impassable for the proposed automobile bus in which it is planned to carry the children from their homes to the new school. After a two-hour debate Supervisor Daniel J. Murphy assured Donahue and his colleagues that he would guarantee the improvement of the road to permit the passage of the automobile in any kind of weather.

The matter was thereupon continued until the next session of the board and in the meantime the finances of the road district will be investigated to determine whether or not the improvement can be made.

The proposed consolidation was advocated by County School Superintendent George W. Erick, in the interest of improving the educational system of the county. He explained to the board that the small districts involved were individually unable to provide for teachers. The proposed consolidation will make one graded school at Sunol Glenn with 75 pupils and the parents in the districts have generally signed petitions asking for the consolidation.

Murder Theory When Woman's Body Found

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—The body of a woman, apparently murdered, was found in a rear room at 553 Lombard street this afternoon. Detectives from the central station are investigating the circumstances. There is still no identification of the remains.

BILL FOR FLEET PILLARS UNPAID

Complaint of Mrs. M. H. Lopez that the bill of herself and her husband had not been paid by the Fleet well-committee, for ornamental pillars at Broadway and Fourteenth streets was heard by the city council today and referred to H. C. Capwell, general chairman of the committee. Mrs. Lopez filed a complaint that $1000 had been paid and that $2000 was owing herself and her husband, and that trouble had arisen over the matter in the committee and her bill left unpaid.

Jack Maurorian, chairman of the decoration committee of the affair, was present in council, but did not speak on the matter. Mrs. Lopez said that her husband bought the cloth used in the pillars from Maurorian, who operates a curtain store. She said in her letter that all preliminary arrangements for the pillars were made with E. W. Perry while Maurorian was away, and that when Maurorian returned they were told to go ahead with the work. The contract was signed by Maurorian, she says, as chairman of the committee. She says that Lopez also discussed the matter with Treston W. Higgins, financial secretary, and that everything in connection with the work was supposed to have been settled. The council voted that Capwell be asked to furnish a copy of his findings in the case to the city authorities.

E. RANDALL ESTATE FIGHT IS RENEWED

Accusations of misconduct in the administration of the estate of Humphrey L. Randall, formerly of Maine, is made today against his widow, Mrs. Anne Bates Randall, of 1110 Webster street, by W. H. Philbrook, of San Francisco, in a petition to delay final distribution of the estate.

Philbrook is the surviving husband of Florence L. Philbrook, only sister of the deceased, who survived him, and who was appointed administratrix, but later ousted as such by the late Judge William S. Wells, in favor of Mrs. Randall.

The petition for delay alleges that the administratrix has been guilty of "fraudulently and feloniously withholding large sums from the estate," that she has "stolen" and "embezzled" valuable securities, taking them from safe deposit boxes in Maine banks, and that she took advantage of the illness of the deceased, Mrs. Philbrook, during the latter's last sickness, and persecuted her "murderously." It is charged that the administratrix took "base, cruel and malicious advantage" of the delirium of Mrs. Philbrook, and that the latter was "defenseless against the murderous attacks" of Mrs. Randall.

and her co-conspirators. It is charged that she manipulated the courts, taking advantage of the illness of Mrs. Philbrook to secure decrees de feating the interests of the latter, for the Philbrook children in San Francisco in November last year. Randall died in 1914 and the estate has been in litigation in the courts of Maine and California ever since.

Philbrook claims that his wife, Florence L. Philbrook, was the only son of the deceased living at the time of his death and that with the exception of the household effects in Maine, which he inherited, he was the sole heir to the estate. He as her surviving husband, now claims to inherit.

The estate has been appraised at something over $10,000, but Philbrook makes the accusation that large sums, "many thousands of dollars" worth of securities were embezzled from safe deposit boxes, that a $1000 bond of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, two items of $5000 each, and other valuable securities, were not accounted for. It is also charged that the legacy of $5000 to Florence L. Philbrook was never paid.

Philbrook makes the contention that the law of Maine does not recognize community property, and that the widow was entitled to only what the will bequeathed her, whereas she claims to be entitled to practically the whole of the estate. She was the second wife of the deceased.

The petition of Philbrook is on the calendar for consideration by Judge Dudley Kinsell in the probate department.

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Edward Tanner, conductor for the San Francisco, Oakland Terminal railway, residing at 325 Boyd avenue, Oakland, is at Froese hospital with a sprained ankle, cuts in the head and other injuries as a result of a street car accident last evening at Arlington and Indian Rock avenues in Thousand Oaks.

Woman Arrested on Charge of Vagrancy

In full of the woman's section of the Oakland city prison, Josephine Dedillon, recently arrived from France, is learning the effect of transgressing American-made laws today.

FIRST RAIN DRENCHES COAST STORM EXPECTED TO CONTINUE

The first considerable rainfall of the season visited the California coast and interior valleys yesterday and last night, varying from a half inch in some places to a trace at most interior points. Here the precipitation amounted to a tenth of an inch up to 8 o'clock this morning. Needles and Independence, both in the arid belt, were the only California stations of the weather bureau that did not report a rainfall.

Santa Barbara reported the heaviest precipitation of 2.06 inches up to 5 o'clock this morning, according to the United States weather office. Southern California received the heaviest rainfall, the bureau figures indicated. The precipitation at other points was: Red Bluff .02, Los Angeles .72, Pomona .94, Redlands 1.52, Colusa .12, Sacramento .08, Santa Rosa .03, San Francisco .16, San Jose .24, Stockton .02, Fresno .07, San Luis Obispo .28, Riverside 1.14, San Diego .13.

According to G. H. Wilson, district forecaster, the depression which came into the country from the northwest, still continued this morning over most of California, though the barometer was gradually rising in Oregon and Washington. This would indicate, he states, a continuance of the storm here but a gradual dissipation in the north, which will probably work south by tomorrow.

Neither benefit nor damage has been reaped from the rain, according to the weather bureau. It was sufficiently heavy neither to assist in fighting the forest fires raging at various points in the State nor to harm fruit drying in the Santa Clara and other valleys.

CURFEW RINGS TONIGHT, ORDER FOR RICHMOND

RICHMOND, Sept. 29.—No more will small children romp the streets of this city after 9 o'clock at night, Chief of Police W. H. Wood said this morning that the ordinance ordering children under 14 to be in bed at that hour would be rigidly enforced and a notice to this effect posted immediately.

The ordinance which was passed by the City Council in 1907 has not been enforced during the past two or three years, according to Chief Wood, but from now on the children will be ordered home after 9 o'clock. Chief Wood has requested that all mothers help the police in enforcing the ordinance.

Burglar Retreats When Girl Screams

Miss Hauch asked who was in the room. The intruder clearly replied "Hurry," Miss Hauch then screamed, and the man fled out of the house and through the year yard. He entered the house by an unlocked rear door.

NEWS NOTES FROM ACROSS THE BAY

SAN FRANCISCO, September 29.—King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium probably will visit San Francisco four days earlier than originally proposed. The tentative change in the program for the royal tour has been brought about by the illness of President Wilson.

Mayor Rolph received a telegram yesterday asking if San Francisco's entertainment plans could be changed to meet the earlier date. He replied by wire that San Francisco would be ready at any time to welcome the Belgian rulers.

WOODCOCKS ARE ALLOWED PRIVILEGES.
Few persons charged with murder at the city prison have ever been accorded the prison privileges that have been allowed Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Woodcock, held for murder in connection with the slaying of Edward C. Kelly.

Yesterday the couple were permitted to talk with Mrs. Alice Harlow, mother of Mrs. Woodcock, for two hours inside the screened reception room of the city prison. An ordinarily inexorable prison rule permits prisoners only 20 minutes' conversation a day with friends.

During the visit of Mrs. Harlow, Woodcock held his wife closely in his arms and frequently leaned over and kissed her. A steady flow of visitors called at the prison yesterday and held whispered conversations with the Woodcocks.

The local directors of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will meet tonight in Hibernian hall to receive reports on the progress of the membership drive that has been going on six weeks. ## ARMY FOOD TO BE DELIVERED AT POSTOFFICE

A few cases of government food included in requisition number three and uncanceled for at the Municipal Auditorium were removed today to the basement of the Oakland main postoffice and post-card notices were sent out to the purchasers advising them that their orders are on hand. This shipment the first and only one received after a wait of five weeks, includes about one-fifth of the total ordered through the local postoffice. No indication has been received as to when the other requisitions will be filled. Many complaints have come in from those whose orders were included in requisitions one and two. Why the army authorities filled the third requisition first is a mystery, according to the postoffice officials.

"We will make no further distribution at the Auditorium," said Postmaster Joseph J. Rebooghs today. "In the future, the orders will be given out at the postoffice. It will be a little difficult to handle the work here, but the way the shipments are coming in, we feel we cannot continue to distribute at the Auditorium. The War Camp Community Service will continue to assist us."

Athlete Gives Blood to Save Stranger

SUNBURY, Pa., Sept. 29.—Without knowing the man whose life he saved, Joseph Murphy, a star athlete and baseball player of this city, gave up a quart of his blood for John Mailey, who is known to the horsemen throughout the eastern states.

Mailey's wife had given up some of her blood in an effort to save her husband's life, but the amount was not enough and the doctors asked for more. In a conversation with friends, Murphy learned of Mailey's need. "I'll give mine," he said, and immediately proceeded to make good his promise.

Mailey is expected to recover.

Hotel Men Protest European Campaign

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 29.—Hotel men of Oregon, Washington and Northern California, at a meeting held here in conjunction with the visit of California hotel men, today strongly protested by telegram to the American Bankers' Association against a publicity campaign recently begun to promote tourist travel to Europe in order the resolution alleged, "to increase the sale of American Bankers' Association travel checks thereby."

Health Center Fund Is Growing Business Men Plan Active Work

The forces which have organized to fund the $200,000 for the purchase of a building site and creation of a health center for the Alameda County Public Health Center are getting down to active work this week, determined that the coming fortnight will realize their ambition. Already comfortable nest eggs toward the total fund has been deposited in the bank and pledges secured several thousands dollars additional.

Business men of Oakland met this afternoon at the Merchants' Exchange to block out the business district and assign captains who will be in charge of the various smaller sections. Charles J. Downey, chairman of the business men's committee, presided. Assisting him in the detail work are A. S. Lavenson and George Hatch. Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Lions' Club and other men's organizations were present. Among the business men taking an active part in the fund-raising campaign are: Hermann Johnson, Frank Rittingstein, Edgar Barbour, Frank Woodward, Harrison Clay.

Leslie Oliver and Howard Baxter are making calls upon all local manufacturers for contributions.

A circular letter, sent out by Dr. W. H. Strelmann, chairman of the physicians' committee, has brought returns amounting to $2000. The physicians are uniting in a campaign among themselves.

Tompkins school is the banquet public school in Oakland in the health center, every teacher of the faculty having made a contribution.

Although the women's campaign committee calls upon the drive underfoot last week, the leaders will remain on duty, carrying out a system of personal calls upon men and women whom they are assured would be interested in assisting to establish the new health movement.

A partial list of subscriptions to Public Health Center follows:

Women's committee:

"UNCLE JOHN" TAKES FLIGHT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 29.—"It sure makes a fellow feel like he is drunk, but it's all right at that."

That was the cryptic, eloquent expression that fell from the lips of "Uncle John" Schell, 33 years old, as he stepped upon the State fair grounds again following a fifteen-minute airplane flight.

Other spectators applauded Grey as the party filled through the station.

SENATOR JOHNSON TO BE WELCOMED

Arrangements for the homecoming reception to Senator Johnson have been practically completed and the indications are that he will be tendered a most cordial every aspect quite equal to that given to President Wilson. The Senator is due to arrive at the ferry building tomorrow afternoon at 5:10, where he will be welcomed and escorted to the hotel by a reception committee headed by Mayor James Rolph. In anticipation that a throng of citizens will be at the ferry to meet him a platform has been constructed, from which the mayor will extend the welcome and from which Senator Johnson will deliver his first words of greeting to his home people.

Three public engagements have been arranged for the Senator for Wednesday and Thursday. Tuesday evening will be spent by him with his family at his Green street residence. On Wednesday evening he will address a mass meeting at the Coliseum, and a men's luncheon at the Palace Hotel under the auspices of the Advertising, Commonwealth and Rotary Clubs, the Downtown Association and the Home Industry League, will be addressed during the midday, and the women's luncheon at the Fairmont Thursday.

It is probable that arrangements will be made for an address before the Commercial Club prior to the hour of the women's luncheon. Johnson will not speak in Oakland.

TICKETS IN DEMAND.

Tickets to the Palace and Fairmont luncheon have been in such demand that only a limited number of those demanding the privilege of hearing the Senator can be accommodated. The admission to the men's luncheon at the Palace is expected there will be a great crush of women seeking lucky cards. The Commercial Club meeting is being demanded as a sort of overflow meeting by the men who have been unable to secure admission to the Palace luncheon. The Coliseum, seating 1000 less than the Exposition Auditorium, where the main public address will be delivered, will not contain the crowds that are expected to flock to hear the leader of the opposition to the League of Nations.

INTEREST APPARENT.

According to one member of the committee yesterday, evidence of the great interest attending Johnson's visit is apparent in all the committee's work.

"We have had the greatest difficulty in avoiding the holding of a parade in the Senator's honor," he said. "Wherever there are organizations and individuals have pleaded with the committee to arrange a parade. I don't think there is any doubt but that 25,000 would turn out for such a demonstration."

"But the Senator isn't coming out here to make a test of his personal popularity. He is coming solely in the interest of the great issue which is now before the American people and he wants to make sure that the people of his own state understand thoroughly his position and the reasons why he is opposing the President."

TO ATTEND INITIATION.

Senator Johnson will be invited as a guest of honor to attend an initiation.

tion of 400 members into San Francisco Lodge No. 26, Loyal Order of Moose, Wednesday night, following the big Coliseum meeting. Senator Johnson is a life member of the lodge.

The committee in charge consists of D. B. Futernick, Frank C. Tracey, Walter McGovern, Dr. Joseph P. Pohelm and Thomas Roche. Senator Johnson will leave Thursday evening for Los Angeles, where an extensive program has been arranged.

SPokane, Wash., Sept. 29.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson will speak in Spokane during the week of October 5, according to announcement here.

WILL DO WHAT THEY SAY IT WILL

This Is What Mrs. Tildsley Aserts of Tanlac—Was Wonderfully Built Up.

"Nearly every night for one year before I took Tanlac I would lay awake for hours at a time," said Mrs. Tildsley of 1539 Sixty-third St., Oakland, Cal., to the Tanlac representative recently.

"I sleep ten hours every night, that comes now, and feel like a different woman altogether. Tanlac will certainly do what they say it will, and I am pleased to recommend it," continued Mrs. Tildsley.

"About a year ago my nerves went to pieces, and my nervousness got so bad that any little thing out of the ordinary would terribly upset me. I had no sleep, and I was eating and praying that I might get a good night's rest, but I can almost count on my two hands the times I tried every way in the world to get some sleep, but nothing seemed to do me any good, and my health got worse and worse because my system was being pulled down all the time. When I got up in the mornings I was an effort for me to drag myself about. My appetite was very poor, and I would have gastritis so bad that sometimes I was almost faint. I was so weak. I would have times when I could hardly get my breath, and I would have terrible spells at times that would get my breath. And my head would become so dizzy that I could hardly stand. At once I decided to give it a trial. And I began to improve immediately. In ten days I had been eating and sleeping as well as I had in years. I gained in weight, eat anything I want and am stronger than I've been in years. My gastritis, my nervous spells and dizzy feelings have all gone. I feel like a different woman. My nerves are in fine condition, and my whole system has been built up wonderfully, and I give all the credit to Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company stores.—Advertisement.

Blind Prisoner is Expert Typewriter

OSISING, Sept. 29.—Charles Cossum, former lawyer and blind prisoner of Sing Sing for whom Governor Alfred Smith has signed pardon, has lately learned to operate a typewriter, and hopes to earn his living by typing as soon as he is released from prison. Cossum was taught to operate the typewriter by the touch system.

In the two years he has been in prison he has had no occupation, and prison attendants and inmates took an interest in him and showed him how to run a typewriter. His blindness is the result of a self-inflicted wound. He tried to kill himself in his office in Poughkeepsie. This act led to the discovery by the authorities that he had stolen funds and securities entrusted to him by clients. Cossum is the only blind prisoner ever confined in Sing Sing.

Why is Eugene O'Brien the PERFECT LOVER?

Eugene O'Brien the man

Eugene O'Brien the lover

The man who has gained fame on the stage and screen as "the perfect lover"—the man who has a larger following of women than any other male star—the man whom women watch with yearning eyes and beating hearts, wishing they were in the place of the female he is holding so tightly that she looks as if she were going to lose her last drop of breath any minute—the same man whom the men watch with eagerness, hoping to gain a few fine points about the art of becoming "the perfect lover"—is all man in private life.

He is a big, handsome, but without a virile man. He is the kind of man who shakes your hand and makes you feel that he is a man.

Is the man whose hand-clasp thrills you, whose kisses burn and make you think you are living in another world, whose eyes pierce your very soul—the man who can make love so wonderfully, so divinely, as to make you forget all material things, "the perfect lover" is not the virile type, the "cane-muscle" who can grab you so tightly that your skin is blue and bruised when he lets you go and your very bones ache, nor is he the soft, mushy man who gently nips you and treats you like a nice, sweet kitten—but the man who strikes the happy medium. He is the man who knows when to hold you very tight and press his lips to yours in burning, fiery kisses, so that you imagine yourself some ethereal being floating on the clouds and sipping the nectar of the gods; he is the man who knows when to gently pet and caress you, to kiss your eyes and your hair and tell you to sleep with his soothing touch and honeyed words. He is "the perfect lover" the man no woman can resist, the man women go out of their way to please.

ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH AT ALAMEDA BURNED

CONVENT ALSO INJURED; LOSS ABOUT $70,000

Wreck of St. Joseph's Church, Alameda, after fire had laid waste the Catholic edifice and threatened nearby buildings.

Painters or Crossed Wires
May Have Started Blaze;
Nuns Rush Tots to Safety

ALAMEDA, Sept. 23.—St. Joseph's Church, one of the best known Catholic houses of worship in Northern California, was destroyed by fire at midnight last night. The morning only a huge pile of smoking debris remains. The loss is perhaps $70,000, partially covered by insurance, carried with the diocesan architect's insurance fund. Defective wiring, or possibly oil-soaked paint rags, are assigned as the probable causes of the fire. The convent of Notre Dame, on the same site, escaped serious damage, and the parish house and Lafayette hall across the street were not damaged.

The Notre Dame Academy had an extensive fire about fifteen years ago and was partially rebuilt after the fire. The sisters at the convent school hurried the children from the dormitories without injury. The church stood at the northeast corner of the block and the convent buildings at the southeast, a considerable free space being between. The convent building walls are blistered and in places charred from the heat, but the nuns kept the buildings from catching fire.

SPECTACULAR SIGHT.
The alarm was sounded at 12:15 o'clock. When the firemen reached the scene the church was fully ablaze and all that the firemen could do was to confine the fire to the church itself.

The fire made a spectacular sight as the flames mounted to the tall Gothic spire and climbed the high, steep roof, being visible all about the city. The church was of wood and freshly painted, and burned like tinder. Following yesterday's services, an inspection of the church property, following the usual rule, apparently showed that the property was in good condition. Detective wiring is given chiefly as the probable cause of the fire. The mention of painter's rags being responsible is founded in the fact that the church had just been repainted.

The burned edifice was built in 1884. It was purely Gothic in design, being a replica of a famous Catholic Gothic cathedral in Montreal, Canada. The original price was $22,000. To this original price was added $7000 more in fixtures and changes. A few years ago a $5000 pipe organ was added to the church fittings; the organ being purchased after it was contracted for by the Hotel Oakland.

FORMERLY A MISSION.
The pastor and his two assistant pastors, the Rev. Father Eugene Warren and the Rev. Father J. J. Sullivan, succeeded the Rev. Father Patrick a number of years ago. Originally St. Joseph's was a little mission and was served by the Rev. Father William from St. Anthony's in Oakland; later the charge of the Rev. Father York. Father Gleason was one of the pioneer priests of Oakland.

The church was built during the pastorate of the Rev. Father J. J. Sullivan, the site having been purchased previously by the Rev. Father McNaboe. The church owns the block bounded by Chestnut, Lafayette, San Antonio and San Jose avenues, on which was located the burned church and the convent of Notre Dame. The church also owns the entire frontage on the north line of San Antonio avenue, between Chestnut and Lafayette streets, on which is the parish home, constructed a few years ago, and Lafayette hall, now used for school purposes.

Within the last year or two the pastor, the Rev. Father Bernard J. Praught, had expended between $3000 and $4000 in interior decorating. To this expenditure is added the $2500 just spent on repainting the edifice.

The church was free of debt and the pastor had well under way a $50,000 parochial school plan, to be added to the church, academy and present parochial school.

LOSERS RE-ESTIMATED.
Early estimates of the loss this morning figure the total loss at $70,000, with about $15,000 insurance. High praise is given the firemen for confining the fire to the church edifice.

only a few feet from the north wall of the main Notre Dame convent building. So well did the firemen work that the north wall of the convent merely shows a few heat blisters in the paint.

The few remaining, half-charred splinters of the front wall are being taken down by the firemen to prevent them falling on pedestrians. A small half-burned section of the south wall is still standing. The rest of the building has been consumed.

The Rev. Father Eugene Warren is credited with saving the costly priestly raiment, valued at $3000. Father Warren also made a determined effort to save the Blessed Sacrament, but it was not possible. The fire was so intensely hot that he could not effect the rescue. The aid of firemen was invoked and the Blessed Sacrament was taken from the church just in time to prevent destruction of receptacle and contents.

CONFLICTING REPORTS.

Conflicting reports were abroad this morning of sisters and pupils at the convent being injured and being carried to safety by firemen. No one was injured, but a sick sister in the convent infirmary, who declined to give her name, was carried out on a stretcher.

The sisters marshaled their boarding pupils by the fire drill alarm and marched them calmly into the street after the firemen had warned the sisters that the church was doomed and that the convent buildings were endangered. School is in session today and sisters and pupils are back in the buildings as usual.

Clamp Censorship on Iowa Murder Case

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 23.—Police here, searching for the negro who shot and killed Con McCarthy, veteran policeman, Saturday morning, clamped on a censorship relative to suspects arrested today. Following the Omaha lynching and riots and reported high feeling here, Detective Chief McDonald said he expected to "use some judgment" in the local case.

WOMAN WANDERS STREETS TO HEAR SPIRITS CONVERSE

She had chosen last night as the most opportune time to continue her communications with spiritualistic powers that had sent her many messages in the last few nights. This was the explanation given by Mrs. G. E. Warren, living at 118 Twentieth street, when she was found wandering at a late hour last night on Berkeley streets.

The woman recently arrived from Salt Lake, where her husband is located. She is staying here with her sister, Mrs. William Elliott, at the Twentieth street house.

According to the sister Mrs. Warren has been absorbed in the study of occultism with spirits since her arrival at the Elliott home.

When Mrs. Elliott and a policeman located Mrs. Warren after an all day absence the woman was taken to the emergency hospital for observation. There she was found to be of rational mind.

"Aside from her eccentric ways, outgrowing from the study of spiritualism," Mrs. Warren is sound in mind," said her sister.

Mrs. Warren said she had communicated with the spirits in the past few days. They had advised her that President Wilson and Dr. Carey Grayson, the President's physician, were en route to aid in her recovery from a nervous ailment.

Mrs. Warren started out for church yesterday morning and did not return.

Railway Shopmen Given Contract 600,000 Workers Avoid Walkout

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The Railroad administration last night confirmed the report that 600,000 railroad shopmen, members of the American Federation of Labor and the United States Railroad administration have substantially completed an agreement covering wages and hours and conditions of work which the labor men have sought for several months.

Ben M. Jewell, acting president of the American Federation of Labor, said that the agreement was a landmark in the history of the railroad industry. It was the first time that the shopmen had secured a contract that gave them the same rights and privileges as the other railroad workers.

The agreement will provide for a uniform wage scale for the various trades and crafts. The eight-hour day will be part of the agreement; time and a half for overtime, except for apprentices, a uniform allowance for meals and overtime for road service. Seniority regulations governing each craft are included.

Executive council, are quoted as saying that when signed it will be the greatest contract ever made by a labor organization.

Officials pointed out that the agreement can be valid only so long as the Railroad administration controls the lines, although labor leaders are satisfied that it will be continued after the return of the roads to private control.

Among the important features of the agreement will be a uniform national contract for the workers commonly known as shopmen, made up of the International Association of Machinists, International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and Helpers, International Alliance of Sheet Metal Workers, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, Switchmen's Union of North America, Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Shipbuilders.

TAXES TO RISE WITH RENTS OF APARTMENTS

City Assessor Will Keep Tab on Rates Charged Tenants and Valuations of Property Will Be Fixed Accordingly

War was declared today on rent profiteers by City Assessor Harry G. Williams, when he and his office force started work on tabulations of all rents paid by tenants and apartment houses and other property in Oakland. Williams says that in all cases where rents have jumped exorbitantly a proportionate increase of assessment will be placed on the property. In other words, Williams says, he will use the annual income of apartment houses in such cases as a basis for a new valuation for assessing purposes.

"The result will be," said Williams, "that every rent profiteer will find a good stiff tax fee slapped onto his property next year; in other words, a taste of his own medicine. There is nothing illogical about the plan, for, after all, value of property should be fixed by what it brings in as income."

"It has been the policy of the Downtown Association that in cases where tax matters were taken up with the assessor the income of the property should be considered as a valuation basis. As a concrete example in the apartment house proposition we will take an apartment house renting apartments for $50 a month, if there be any so cheap. Suppose there are 20 apartments; that means $1000 a month. That would mean $2,000 a year. Assuming that property should bring 6 per cent, we can arrive at a valuation which would put it much higher than our present figures. The result, I have no doubt, will be a heavy burden on apartment owners, but in every case they will have only their own rates to thank for their taxes."

Williams and his force will have a complete list ready, he says, within the month and will thereafter watch for further increases or decreases.

Policemen at Berkeley Ask Higher Wages

Mass Meeting Held in City Hall; Officers Present Their Demand for $50 Per Month Increase; Now Getting $120

BERKELEY, Sept. 23.—Members of the Berkeley police department today asked an increase in salaries of $50 monthly, at a mass meeting of citizens held in the council chamber at the city hall.

Detective Sergeant A. S. J. Woods presented the demands of the policemen, giving figures and facts to show the steady upward trend of prices and the stationary wage paid officers of the law.

"Living expenses have so increased since 1914, when the patrolman's salary was $100," declared Woods. "His salary is now but $120."

"Does this look like a fair rate of increase?" The committee believes that we are justified in asking an increase of $50 per month, which will bring the patrolman's salary to $170. We deem this the minimum salary upon which a scientifically trained police officer can live as he fits his station in life. The amount necessary to meet this increase is $14,400. This would increase Berkeley's per capita to only $1.01 per annum, which would leave us at the bottom of the list. Even this increase in salary would not suffice to fully offset the increased cost of living."

"NO WAY TO MEET IT."
James Koford, former assistant in the district attorney's office, presided at the meeting, while other speakers included Mayor Louis B. Hart and Councilman Charles D. Heywood, commissioner of public health and safety, both of whom declared that the present state of the city's finances provided no way to meet it.

Appearing with Sergeant Woods in behalf of the patrolmen were Sergeants C. D. Lee and A. R. Mehtens.

Sergeant Woods presented the following table showing salaries paid policemen in other Pacific coast cities as reason why the college city officers of the law should be recognized in their request for additional funds: Oakland, $142; San Francisco, $142; Seattle, $145; $155, $160; Richmond, $125; Bakersfield, $132.

For the year ending June 30, 1919, the total expense of the Berkeley police department was $61,580, according to figures presented by Woods, which, divided into a population of 20,000, he declared was $3.08 cents as the per capita cost. This was compared to a per capita of $2.32 for San Francisco, $2.30 for San Diego, $1.87 for Los Angeles, $1.58 for Oakland, $1.37 for Sacramento, $1.29 for Alameda, and $1.14 for Richmond.

MUST BE "HANDY" MAN.
"More work and better work is demanded of policemen and unless salaries are raised to attract the right kind of men it will not be possible for police departments to give the service expected of them," declared Woods. "However small his pay, the American policeman is expected to be a municipal guide book, an authority on criminal law and practice, an automobile mechanic, a welfare worker, a children's nurse, a shining model of good manners and much more besides than there is time to tell."

That Berkeley is a "clean" city as a result of the efficiency of its police department, among the most modern criminological lines, was the declaration of Sergeant Woods. He pointed out the following paucity of serious crimes:

Five murders in fourteen years, and two of these Tong wars; Serious assaults and robberies with violence very few. Bank robberies, none. Sales blown, five in fourteen years. Arson, thirteen cases in thirteen years.

NO VICE OR GRAFT.
Other things which Woods pointed out to the audience were the absence of vice and graft.

"Berkeley has a completely motorized patrol force enabling us to reach any point of the city within a very few minutes," Woods pointed out.

"Most of your police officers," he continued, "are old-time residents here, married and raising families. A number of them have been on the force over ten years, and some of them since inception of the department. The older men in the service have had a special training in a regular police school, and all are receiving instruction in every branch of the science of criminology. It is the aim to have them all highly trained specialists in human nature."

Today's meeting was largely attended by representatives of Berkeley women's clubs, civic and commercial organizations and other bodies. It was held at the first step in a campaign of education taxpayers of the city of the justice of their demands.

BOYS, OUT LATE, ARRESTED.
The law frowns upon young boys wandering in Oakland at late hours of the night, hence Charles Barrett, 16, and Frank Currier, 15, are in the detention home today. Both lads were picked up by an officer at Fifteenth and San Pablo avenues, when they could not explain why they were there.

U.S. RESCINDS ORDER HALTING WAGE INCREASE

Prospects of Strike in Local Shipyards Reduced by the Change in Attitude of the Federal Government Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Representatives of union shipbuilders of the Pacific Coast met here today to appoint a committee to confer with officials of the navy department and the shipping board to ask the withdrawal of the order cancelling further increases to shipyard workers after October 1. They say that if the order went into effect a strike of 200,000 men in Pacific Coast yards would result which probably would involve an equal number of men in the Atlantic coast and Great Lakes plants.

Clouds on the local industrial horizon began clearing away today when it was learned that a rescinding order would in all probability be sent here by the Emergency Fleet Corporation, whereby the recent edict forbidding an increase of shipyard wages after October 1 is cancelled, allowing metal trades establishments to make the advances.

Local metal trades officials have received word from James O'Connell, president of the metal trades department, American Federation of Labor, that the rescinding order may be expected at any time. O'Connell makes the prediction that a settlement will be effected.

This rescinding order, if it comes, will allow the 8 cents an hour increase for shipyard and metal trades workers throughout the Pacific coast district. The 54-cent-a-day advance was accorded the men after a long conference between employers' delegates and those representing union labor. The new scale takes the place of the Macy award.

All except three local shipyards had agreed to the new increases October 1 in the agreement when an order, coming like a bombshell from the Emergency Fleet Corporation president, created chaos here by demanding that no increases be made until after the President and national officials had made some efforts to reduce the high cost of living. The Alameda and Contra Costa Metal Trades Council immediately prepared for a strike unless shipyards and outside shops disregarded the order and raised wages, according to the agreement.

The telegram from O'Connell requested the Pacific Coast District Metal Trades to suspend final strike action until an official statement had been issued by the Emergency Fleet Corporation. Over 200,000 shipyard workers are affected on the Pacific coast, besides the men working in outside shops. It is understood here that Congressmen Julius Kahn and John L. Nolan worked for the rescinding order.

They were not at home. The police are attempting to locate their parents.

Charged with playfully tossing a cauliflower through the window of a dining car and injuring C. N. Pope, a bootblack, of 1530 Lincoln avenue, Fred Grace, 5924 Hayes street, was arrested Saturday night by Constable Leslie S. Trothway of the Southern Pacific.

Pope was finishing his steak in the diner, when he suddenly found the table littered with broken glass. His face was badly cut and he was bleeding profusely.

According to the charge, Grace with a party of others stopped their automobile to let the train pass at Seventh and Oak streets. The cauliflower was thrown through the window while the train passed. The train stopped for ten minutes while inquiry was made and Grace arrested.

Kind of men it will not be possible for police departments to give the service expected of them," declared Woods. "However small his pay, the American policeman is expected to be a municipal guide book, an authority on criminal law and practice, an automobile mechanic, a welfare worker, a children's nurse, a shining model of good manners and much more besides than there is time to tell."

COULTER CHOSEN AS COACH

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

Sept. 2.—The California Varsity Soccer team held its initial workout yesterday at the University of California, and the team felt strong, following an entirely work-out sign-up and rally held the previous afternoon. The California Varsity Soccer team appears to be growing and the turnout this year is offering the best indication of the evidence of the growing favor of the national sport. In previous years the number of players in the Varsity team for all other minor sports, has usually been small, and consequently the support of the student body has been far behind the team, but with reforming the bulk of the previous years' team, the Varsity Soccer team appears that soccer is in for a successful season.

The SOUL CATCHER

By AHMED ABDULLAH.

"Yes," agreed Mustafa Shikandar Khan, winking an opaque, hooded eye, "and the mind can kill, though it has neither arms nor feet, is armed neither with sword nor with bullet. Soon—" and his voice was as keen and dry as a new-ground sword—"I shall kill Alci-blades Catreopoulos, and," he added proudly, "the rest shall be as Allah willeth!"

"May his soul pass quickly into the lowest hell of the damned!" chimed in Takiat Yusuf Khan. "May the Prophet utterly reject him!"

Come silence—silence spotted by the sucking gurgle of the hubble-bubble—and then Takiat looked up. "I waited the many years for thy coming, little brother," he said, in an even, passionate voice; "years during which I followed the foot-steps of Alci-blades Catreopoulos, as the shadow follows the body; years during which I became a prey—" he pointed at a whistly bottle wrapped in wet rags to keep it cool—"to vice. For there was the old oath which we gave to Catreopoulos—both thou and I; and so the thought of our vengeance, never to be fulfilled, was a stench in my nostrils."

"Catreopoulos does not know that thou art here."

"No," he thinks I am dead. There was the report that time—dost thou remember?—in that Turkish paper—"Yes."

"And here I use a different name. To all the world I am known here as Ali—Ali, the peddler, the drunkard, the brawler, the hater of Greeks." Yes—I followed Catreopoulos—followed him, followed him, and that I should survive Catreopoulos—that I should see him buried—and I would spit on his grave and laugh!"

"I, too, followed him, heart of my heart!" said Mustafa Shikandar Khan.

"Thou? Why, thou hast not even seen Catreopoulos' face, these ten years or more, until the other day?"

"I followed him, not with the feet of my body, but with my mind!"

"Thy mind, little brother?"

"Yes, my mind! For there was the triple oath which bound me, as it bound thee, the oath I swore by the Koran, by my mother, by the blood of mine own honor, any of the Prophet, and I wondered how I could take toll without breaking my oath, and I talked to a wise man—a man from Tripoli, a great Sufi, and he spoke of a way. The first thing I must do, he told me, was to clean my mind of everything I had ever learned—down to my very native tongue. I did that! I learned another language—the prevalent Turkish of the Eastern vilayets. And then—"

"He interrupted himself, rose, and walked to his brother's side.

"Don't! Don't! For the sake of a low voice," he entreated in a hoarse voice. "It is killing thee—inches by inches!"—and he took the whiskey bottle out of the other's clasp and fingers.

"No! No!" as the other burst into deep raking sobs. "Thou breakest my heart, loved one! Soon—today, if not today, then tomorrow, my honor shall be made clean, heart of my heart—our honor and Zaida's. And then I shall take thee back with me to our own country—Kibila—the hills! Perhaps the snow tang of the hills will cure thee of this, brother mine!"

"And he threw the bottle against the wall, where it burst into a dozen splinters.

"And now, wait! Do not speak! Keep absolutely quiet, brother mine!"

He walked to the window and opened it wide. Tightly he closed his eyes and breathed, slowly, rhythmically. His body trembled convulsively. A grayish yellow over-spread his hawklike features.

For five minutes he stood there, until his body, as if under the pressure of tremendous, wavelike vibrations, began to sway gently from side to side. A sharp sunray danced through the high window and cut his face as clean as with a knife, emphasizing the hooked nose, the high cheek bones and the thin lips, heightening the expression of harsh, inconspicuous, lending to his features something that was almost ecstasy—such ecstasy as a Spanish monk of the Middle Ages must have felt when he saw the bodies of infidels burn on the auto-da-fé and believed, sincerely, deep in his own heart, that he was thus saving their immortal souls.

About him was a cloak of profound silence, drowning even the distant gutter cries of Rector street outside, the belliferous clank of the elevated line, the grim rumble of the subway, the tinkling bells of the pedlar's pack-trail.

"Come!" now the revenge of Mustafa Shikandar Khan, he murmured.

Then again a brown, sudden pall of silence; again his body swayed rhythmically from side to side; and something came out of the nowhere and wiped over the room with a soft, gigantic hand, causing the ceiling to pour down in fluid form to meet the floor that was like a mass of shifting, sliding waves, changing the outlines of the furniture, the very figure of his brother Takiat who had sunk into slumber, to outlandish, amorphous, proportions, bunching everywhere together into a hall of floating, crimson smoke opalescent at the edges where it lapped from the open window into the street.

SEPTEMBER TWENTY-NINE. Michaelmas Day. Charles Calvert, Fifth Lord Baltimore, born 1659. ODDS SIX TO ONE ON THIS HOARSE.
President Wilson's speaking voice is affected, according to reports, which forms one reason for the tour's end. A local League of N. opponent remarked rather emphatically today that it was a case of a hoarse—a hoarse—my golly for a hoarse!

THE MAGIC GIFT.
Once there was a little girl who was very naughty and spoiled. She would tease the cat by pulling its tail and almost freeze her puppy by putting it in cold water. One night a fairy appeared and said: "If you will do a kind deed for me, I will give you a magic flower that will never wilt, but will keep its beauty and fragrance just as long as you are good." The little girl was much surprised at this but nevertheless did not try at first to mend her naughty ways. But one day she rescued a poor dog that was drowning in the river and took him home and gave him some warm milk. That very night she found on her dresser a beautiful rose—the one the fairy had promised her. It was so lovely that forever after she was a good girl so that it might never fade.

PUZZLE CORNER.
Do you know what a WORD of a puzzle? Here are fifteen words which have been turning somersaults. Each word has two syllables and is the name of something to do. They were well known words when they started out, but after they were through somersaulting, they were all jumbled and each word had some other word's syllables in with one of its own. The letters are not in the words simply the syllables. So if you can straighten them out, you can win a prize.

PICTURE PUZZLE.
The objects in the drawing when properly named and written in the correct order will give, in the initials letters, the name of some well known Indian character who whom all school children are familiar.

SOMETHING TO MAKE.
Here's a jolly little sand wheel which Peter has invented for the boys to make. You have all used water wheels, but of course you can't always find a stream with running water. But here's a home made motor that you can fix in any back yard. The drawing shows the whole arrangement. Take the bottom out of wooden cracker box and erect on standard a tall hole bored in the top which corresponds to a hole in the tin can A. Within the box place an ordinary "water wheel." This is made by putting four pieces of tin like it in four places of the hole and a piece of cork to make the wheel. Then running a stout piece of wire through for an axle and fixing it in the box so that it can revolve easily with an iron knob on one end, and a pulley wheel on the other. Nail two pieces of board inside the box to form a funnel, as is shown in drawing and put a pan underneath. When the can is filled with sand, and this sand trickles through upon the wheel, causing it to revolve, a belt attached to the pulley wheel will turn any small mechanism.

PUZZLE ANSWERS.

REVELATIONS of a WIFE

By ADELE GARRISON.

How Madge Untold Her Bonds and Prepared to Defend Herself.

I wanted only until the sound of Mme. Hofer's footsteps had died away at the foot of the stairs before beginning the attempt to free myself from the cords binding my wrists and ankles. There was time to be frittered away. I realized that.

The giant called "Otto" had conceived the idea that I was too dangerous to keep alive even until the arrival of the man with the scarred hand. He wanted me to be put out of the way at once, and I knew that he would kill me with as little compunction as he would trample upon an insect. Indeed, if I read his type aright he would probably carefully avoid trampling upon the insect because of the strain of sickly sentimentalism often found in his particular brand of the Teutonic mind.

That he possessed the stubbornness of his type I could easily read, and I yesterday to see whether he wanted to buy it or not, and concluded that he did not." (The old rivalry stuff, eh, Ed?)

EXPENSIVE DEET CANCELS COLOR LINE.
I've never seen a purple cow. Although I'd like to greet one. But I can tell you, anyhow I'd eat 'er if I met one.

Saw water salad, Roasted Sunbeams, and Airy Appetizers sound swell—but will they fill the aching void? After digesting this announcement, Al believes he'll stick by round steak and butter.

ODDS SIX TO ONE ON THIS HOARSE.
President Wilson's speaking voice is affected, according to reports, which forms one reason for the tour's end. A local League of N. opponent remarked rather emphatically today that it was a case of a hoarse—a hoarse—my golly for a hoarse!

The drawing shows the whole arrangement. Take the bottom out of wooden cracker box and erect on standard a tall hole bored in the top which corresponds to a hole in the tin can A. Within the box place an ordinary "water wheel." This is made by putting four pieces of tin like it in four places of the hole and a piece of cork to make the wheel. Then running a stout piece of wire through for an axle and fixing it in the box so that it can revolve easily with an iron knob on one end, and a pulley wheel on the other. Nail two pieces of board inside the box to form a funnel, as is shown in drawing and put a pan underneath. When the can is filled with sand, and this sand trickles through upon the wheel, causing it to revolve, a belt attached to the pulley wheel will turn any small mechanism.

DR. BRODRICK SUSTAINED BY SUPERVISORS

Superintendent of the County Hospital Piqued by Criticism Mollified by Assurance of Support of the Officials

Dr. F. G. Brodrick, superintendent of the Alameda county hospital, demanded a "show down" with the Board of Supervisors today to determine whether he is in responsible charge of the hospital or not, declaring that if the supervisors lack confidence in him it would be necessary and desirable to secure some one in whom they would have confidence. The supervisors immediately replied that the superintendent has their confidence entirely and that the discussion arose as the result of a misunderstanding.

The discussion was raised by Supervisor Charles W. Heyer, who called the board's attention to a statement that Yard Foreman Jorgensen at the San Leandro County Hospital has been dismissed, effective October 1. Heyer called attention to the fact that Jorgensen has been on the job for sixteen years and that he was being dismissed by the County Institutions Commission without authority of the board. He branded the act as an unwarranted assumption of power, criticizing it severely.

IMPOSITIONS ALLEGED.
Supervisor D. J. Murphy arose and in a measure seconded Heyer's objection, declaring he understood a man was to be imported for the position. He declared his opposition to bringing in men to fill positions that could be filled by residents.

Chairman J. F. Mullins called upon Dr. Brodrick to explain the matter. The superintendent assumed entire responsibility for the dismissal of Jorgensen, explaining that his authorities conflict with the duties of the hospital "farmer," the man in charge of the dairy, the poultry establishment and the vegetable and produce operations. He said the conflict was destructive to good results and that the foreman was dropped not only to overcome the conflict but to effect a saving. He said it was in line with his policy to consolidate positions and generally reorganize the hospital management.

FOUR PLEDGE SUPPORT.
Supervisors Staats, Hamilton, Mullins and Murphy immediately reassured the superintendent and declared their support of his administration of the hospital affairs.

"I appreciate that," Dr. Brodrick replied, "but at the same time I wish an executive seconded me by the board to arrive at an understanding covering such matters as are here raised."

Heyer, in his defense of Jorgensen, who is said to have been originally a Heyer appointee, announced the institutions' commission and made a proposal to rescind their authority.

The board, acting upon the recommendation of Dr. Brodrick, today passed a resolution of purchase of 23.98 acres of land adjacent to Arroyo San Leandro, for the development of the water supply and for more sanitary disposal of the sewerage. The superintendent has been negotiating with the Cresia Blanca Wine Company, owners of the prop-

PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE TO ATTRACT MANY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Almost universal acceptance by the Pan-American governments of the invitation extended by President Wilson to send their ministers of finance and other delegates to the second Pan-American financial conference here next January 12 to 17 was announced today by Secretary Glass. It is expected that all the 21 republics will be represented.

PROBE EDWARDS' PAST, PLAN NOW

Investigation of the antecedents of George Edwards, held in the city prison following his "confession" of bombing the home of George Greenwood, Oakland banker, through former employers and C. A. Canfield, a former business partner, was started today by the Oakland police.

Whether Edwards will be charged with murder or not this week, Captain Walter J. Petersen, head of the inspectors' bureau, says he cannot state, but he expects to hold a conference with the district attorney's office to decide on this matter.

According to Petersen, the prisoner continually impresses officers in charge of him with impressions that he is sane. "His politeness to jailers and others has not only won him friends," said Petersen, "but his logical talks on practically every subject are tending to confirm the belief that he is sane."

"At the same time, of course, it is possible for a man to be absolutely sane on all points but one; say for instance this bombing. I believe that I would not want him charged until I had an alienist's report for my own use, anyhow."

Petersen talked to the prisoner this morning, but said that he obtained no statement of any value from him, his conversation consisting purely of repetitions of former accounts of his self-claimed dynamiting activities.

erty, for some weeks past, and the details of the purchase have been arranged. The purchase price being $10,796. Dr. Brodrick has agreed to complete a plan for the conservation of the water supply for the future needs of the institution. The purchase removes the danger of an inadequate supply and insures ample fire protection. The land acquired controls the flow of water in Arroyo Valley Creek.

Following out a plan in contemplation for some months, the board at the same time passed a resolution of purchase of the inner dairy at the San Leandro hospital, comprising 20.30 acres, including the complete dairy equipment. The purchase price is $22,500.

The plant will be utilized for the further development of the county's farm, and will enable the removal of the county dairy from the immediate vicinity of the hospital, where it has always been the source of danger of epidemic. The old dairy buildings will be converted into a storehouse and other buildings removed to clear the hospital of the main hospital structures, now being rebuilt, for fire protection.

Dr. Brodrick expressed great satisfaction with the action of the board in adopting the resolutions, declaring it to be one of the most constructive pieces of work accomplished recently in hospital matters.

The board made presents of salary advances to hospital employees today, advancing William Short, baker at the San Leandro hospital to $150 a month; William Smith, ambulance driver, to the same figure; Adolph Lorens, truck driver at Arroyo, to $150; and Cook Ynaes, at Arroyo, to $100. Dr. Lester N. Breese was appointed dentist at the San Leandro hospital at $150 a month.

The board appointed John Stanley to be Webster-street bridge tender at $175 a month, in the absence of E. Horton.

Oakland to Become the City of the Dahlia; Annual Show Is Attracting Thousands

MISS LAURA WOOD of Vancouver, B. C., with a prize basket of "Dr. Tevis" dahlias, which are being exhibited at Oakland's Dahlia Show.

Bay Region. Because of Climatic Conditions, Said to Produce Finest Blossoms in the Country; Prizes Are Awarded for Superior Growth of Plant.

Oakland will become the City of the Dahlia. The first annual Dahlia Show now being held in the ivory ballroom of Hotel Oakland has given impetus to the campaign which will make the bay region as famous for its gorgeous blooms as other places for flowers of different varieties, notably Portland for its roses.

Plans have been formally launched by the Alameda County Floral Society, under whose auspices the wonderful show is being held, to foster the cultivation of the dahlia in Oakland, and to encourage the planting of every vacant lot and vacant space with the brilliant flowers.

A wealth of color and form marking the dahlia exhibit to which local growers have contributed their choicest blossoms. "Mexico," a spiraling mass of Indian red fading into cream, measuring 14 inches in diameter, is the largest dahlia offered.

"Patty," the prize winner for distinctiveness, measures one inch. Large quantities of the finest specimens are one foot across.

EVERY HUE IS SHOWN
Planting every hue known to the flower kingdom, from the most brilliant reds and yellows, through the pastel shades of the rainbow, to black, the Oakland Show even in the history of California flower exhibits holds a unique place. Professionals and amateurs have assembled the finest specimens which have yet been offered together to public view.

Yesterday afternoon and evening and today flower lovers exclaimed and wondered at the perfection which the California dahlia had grown into. The exhibit will continue through tomorrow.

Of the 1500 varieties shown, the tubers of the west predominate. Some remarkable seedlings have a-plotted their work, so early-coming had the pleasure of seeing the prize winners in a dahlia show selected. The judges for the professional growers, in which classification amateurs were also allowed to exhibit, were Joseph Thompson of Alameda, J. March of East Oakland, and G. Kerr, gardener on the L. W. Hellman estate. These three expert horticulturists not only selected the best dahlias at the show, but pronounced the entire exhibit unusually good and a surety of annual dahlia shows for Oakland. In the amateur class the prizes were awarded by J. W. Davies, Miss Almee Hodgkins and Dr. L. Michael, all of them prize winners under the other judges.

SONE OF THE WINNERS
In the professional classifications, which included amateurs as well, the prize for the most meritorious exhibit, the Hotel Oakland trophy, was awarded to J. W. Davies, the famous "ear burn dahlia grower," whose dahlias have won many Palace Hotel prizes. Miss Hodgkins, also of San Francisco, won the second prize in this classification, and Dr. Michael the third award. While Davies and Miss Hodgkins took the greater number of prizes in their class, Eastbay amateurs also won several first and second prizes in "Cure A." Dr. L. Michael of San Leandro, whose dahlias decorated the President's rooms upon his recent visit, won the first prize for the best basket of single dahlias, and also several first prizes in the amateur class.

The second largest dahlia was a blossom raised by Paul Shafer of the county assessor's office. Carlo Carbone, son of the Berkeley orchard grower, won a first prize for the most artistic basket of dahlias in the show, with G. Rossi & Co. second. The best single bloom exhibited was judged to be a huge "Mary Perrier" an English cactus dahlia, exhibited by J. W. Davies. F. C. Burns, with a California dahlia, "The Grizzly," was second. F. C. Burns was also awarded first prize for the best collection of dahlias originated in California, and Carl Salbach of Hillegass avenue won the second award in this classification.

Other Oakland growers who won prizes in the amateur class were Harry Hartstone, W. J. Wintjen, F. A. Volkhardt, R. C. Bitterman and J. B. Peppard.

The Dahlia Show will be open all day Monday and Tuesday, and it is expected that the attendance will continue to be representative of the love Eastbay residents have for the outdoors and the blossoms that this soil and climate produce.

HERE ARE THE AWARDS
F. C. Burns Jr., J. W. Davies, Carl Salbach and Joseph Thompson, the official judges of the Oakland dahlia show, yesterday made the following awards:

BOXER KNOCKS OUT A GANG OF 'FRESH' YOUTHS

Bob McAllister, the boxer, was so quiet of mind that he didn't seem to resent it even when five "fresh" Piedmont youths almost bumped into him with an automobile, near the Hotel Oakland, last night. The youth called him names. He seemed almost apologetic. So they got out of the machine and threatened to beat him up.

Then there was a flurry, a scramble of arms and legs, and when the smoke of battle cleared two were stretched on the pavement and the other three "beating it" toward Piedmont and safety. McAllister brushed off his hat and quietly proceeded up the street. The two on the sidewalk managed to get away before the police found them, and no names were obtained.

SAVES INVALID WIFE, CHILDREN FROM FLAMES

Groping his way through smoke-filled rooms and hallways J. Parz carried first his invalid wife and then his children to safety from his blazing home on Myrtle street at midnight. The residence was partly burned, the most serious portion of the fire being in the bedroom, where the family had been asleep.

The fire is believed to have started in a woodbox in a living room adjoining the sleeping room. Earlier in the evening, according to Parz, one of his younger children had had some matches, and is believed to have thrown one of these lighted into the box. Here it set fire to a box which only smoldered until some time after the family had retired, when it broke into a blaze, caught the woodwork adjoining and burned through into the bedroom.

Parz was awakened from a sound sleep by the choking smoke, and started from his bed to find the adjoining side of the room in flames. Seizing his wife, who has been ill and bed-ridden for some time, in his arms he carried her to safety, awakening the children with his cries as he went. The two older children ran from the house and alarmed the neighbors, while Parz returned into the residence to emerge a moment later with the other two children safely in his arms.
